

Memory access time is how long it takes for a character in memory to be transferred to or from the CPU, hard drive and memory.